

What makes a good parent?

I know that I might not be in the age that I can judge a parent, but I know what I want my parents to be like.

I know that I would not want my parent to buy my love with toys and money.

I know that if my parents are in a fight I would not want them to ask for my opinion.

I know that I would not want my parents to tell me what to do all the time.

I know that I have <sup>the</sup> rights to be loved, and fed, and happy, and I know that my parents can give me that. I don't ask for much, but I know what I would like to have from my parents.

I would like my parents to share stuff with me.

I wouldn't want them to hide stuff from me.

I would like my parents to help me with homework and ask me how was my day.

I would want to know what I can help with to make my parents happy.

but the most important stuff that I need from my parents, is LOVE.

and my parent can, <sup>sure</sup> give me that.

END

"fir ver" 13 - yael cohen